

- 39 -

The compound order processes described may be adapted for a wide variety of trades and financial instrument types and the invention is not limited to the specific examples that have been described.

20020320